THE DENVER POST—FIRST IN EVERYTHIN(

Native Ingenuity is responsible for this new edifice, the Grand Lake Community Presbyterian church, which will be dedicated Sunday. Not only is the structure handsome and well planned—there is not a single cent of debt against it, altho its value is $10,000. Members of the congregation raised the church with their own voluntary labor and skill over the last five years, and what money was needed was donated or raised thru benefits. The construction is native logs and stone. The Rev. William Hage of Chicago is the present pastor.—Photograph by R. W. Bachman.
